Journal Board Meeting Minutes:

Figuring out the timeline for Editor in Chief elections

Speaker: Does anyone have updates?

Cattana: We just need to finalize details for Editor in Chief election. I'm looking at last year's minutes, and last year the nomination period was from the 13-25th of January, campaign went until February 8th and the election was on the 9th. We could have the election on a press day so everyone can be together after the decision.

O'Reilly: We could move it all back one day, and have the election on February 8th,

Cattana: Does that work for everyone?

Wronko: Does the nomination period need to be as long as last year?

Cattana: Not necessarily. It would be good to give people time to collect signatures and pick up their package. I didn't get mine until 5 days later. The open forum was around February 3rd, so we could aim for that timeline

Wronko: It seems safest to keep the same schedule then.

Cattana: It worked last year.

O'Reilly: It works well with AMS elections too, because it sits outside those dates.

Cattana: And we have time to transition them as well.

Hollidge: I recommend passing all of this along to Neil.

Lively: I think that works.

Cattana: Right.
